

J.R. KELLY COMPANY

The Horseradish House

WHO WE ARE

For generations, J.R. Kelly Company has been located in the heart of horseradish country in Collinsville, Illinois, just 15 miles from St. Louis, Missouri. The fertile soil here creates the ideal environment for the production of high quality horseradish.

WHAT WE DO

We market several million pounds of horseradish roots a year as the largest supplier of horseradish roots in the US. Not only do we supply horseradish roots domestically but internationally as well, shipping roots to all corners of the globe.

WHEN IT'S AVAILABLE

Our state-of-the-art cooler warehouses with over 12,500 sq ft of storage allow us to store and ship fresh horseradish root all year round. The temperature is kept at 28 degrees Fahrenheit (-2.2 degrees Celsius), which helps prevent sprouting and molding of the horseradish.

WHY J.R. KELLY

J. R. Kelly Company offers horseradish in many different ways, depending on the grade of the root. Wild Root and Trimmings are packed in a 1200 lb. cube on a 40 x 48 pallet with waxed cardboard trays on the bottom and stretch-wrapped.
